

<Marine Organism Rearing Log>

9 AM, November 28, 2022

Weather: Cloudy

Water temperature: 18.6°C

This is Yama, a care taker, I was away from the site for the business trip in the second half of last week. So I had not met our flounders since 23rd of November for 5 days. I could have checked the conditions of the flounders on YouTube, but could not help worrying about them until I get to see them firsthand... I was relieved that I finally get to meet them in healthy conditions for the first time in 6 days.
