

<Marine Organism Rearing Log>

9 AM, May 16, 2023

Weather: Sunny

Water temperature: 17.5°C

The feeding board is placed against the tank wall while cleaning the abalone tank. The abalones attached to the back of the board were likely to come out of the water, which startled them, and they quickly tried to get back into the water. The abalones can stay in the water (or near the water surface) since we cut the board into two parts. They seem more relaxed in the water now.

